Flexible Spending Account

What is Flexible Spending?

A Flexible Spending Account, or an FSA, is a special account that allows you to set aside pre-tax money directly from your company paycheck to cover certain out-of-pocket costs.

There are three types of FSAs:

Healthcare FSA

Covers out-of-pocket healthcare expenses, such as copayments, deductibles, some drugs, and more.

Limited Purpose FSA

HSA compatible FSA that covers eligible vision and dental costs.

Dependent Care FSA

Covers costs associated with caring for children, a disabled spouse, elderly parents or other dependents while working or attending school full-time.

What Can Flex Be Used For?

- Deductibles
- Preventative care
- Coinsurance
- Menstrual products
- Co-payments
- Over-the-counter
- Prescriptions medications
- Physical exams
- Orthodontia
- Chiropractic care
- Eye glasses
- Physical therapy
- Contact lenses
- Birth control pills
- Dental exams

For a complete list of FSA eligible expenses, refer to IRS Publication 502 or the FSA Store

How It Works

Once you are enrolled in the Healthcare Flex plan, you will receive an Allied Flex Debit Card. This debit card should be used to pay for any covered FSA expenses, and will automatically deduct funds from your Allied Flex Account. All spending activity, account balances and claims can be easily viewed by logging into your Member Portal Account on AlliedBenefit.com.

- Flex debit cards are automatically issued to all participants at no cost.
- Flex debit cards are good for three years.
- Expiration dates will be present on all cards. Additional debit cards for dependents over 17 years old may be requested at no cost.

Flex Plan Highlights

Claim Submissions

All 2024 flex claims must be submitted by March 31, 2025.

Grace Period - your employer has adopted the IRS rule allowing you to submit claims incurred two (2) months after the plan year ends (February 28, 2025).

Use it or Lose it Rule: IRS regulations require that any money left in the account after this deadline will revert back to the plan.
